The North Carolina Attorney General has suggested that the fee disclosure signage be on two separate signs. As such, NCADA developed new signs: one for DOC fees, and one for dealer-arranged financing fees.

Fee Disclosure Requirements

State law requires dealers to post signs at the dealership to conspicuously disclose information concerning documentary or administrative fees as well as compensation for dealer-arranged financing. The purpose of the law is to make consumers aware of fees that may be charged as a part of the business transaction. The law does not place a limit on the amount of such fees; it only requires that certain information about the fees be disclosed in a particular manner.

If you have any questions about the new signs or fee disclosure in general, contact NCADA at (800) 264-6223.
